nique as its companions. -The average age of the new British Cabinet is fifty years and four months. The oldest member is Lord Clarendon, Foreign Secretary, 68; and the youngest the Marquis of Hartington, 35 years old. Mr. Gladstone stands third duced from seventy-five cents to fifty cents on the list.

-The Mobile Register says that within the last thirty days cotton plantation acres have visen three hundred per cent. in value. The present crop will pay the planters all out of debt, and leave them such cash surpluses as they never rejoiced in in the old slave times.

Travellers on the Ogeeche road, leading to Savannah, are stopped at various points and questioned by armed negroes. There are armed and organized bodies of negroes on every read leading to that city, who have their pickets stationed at short intervals to give notice of the approach of travellars.

-It is expected that the President will send his veto of the Southern States Militia bill to the House immediately after the reassembling of Congress on the fifth of January. It is said that the veto will take the ground that as the people have the right to bear arms, Congress has no authority on the subject.

The famous Schneider received a bracelet valued at fifteen thousand dollars, from an English lord, during her visit to Baden-Bauna. The donor's name and title were set in diamonds. This failure, following so hard on the heels of that of Turnbull, Slade & Co., has a very depressing influence among the mer chants-the apprehension being that the misfortures of these large houses will bring down a good many weaker ones here and elsewhere."

-Mrs. Augustus W. Dickens, the widow of the brother of the novelist, in Chicago, whose suicide on Christmas day has been already reported, was poor and dependent upon friends. The public will generally remember the abuse showered upon the head of Mr. Charles Dickens by the Chicago press, during his recent visit to this county, because he abstained from visiting his sister-in-law in that-city, or, indeed, from going to Chicago at all. It will also not be forgotten that the statement was then made that Augustus Dickens, the younger brother, whose nickname of "Boz" furnished the early nom-de-plume of the famous writer, and who seems to have been the person at fault in the matter, on his departure from England, left a wife in that country. For this widow, thus doubly bereaved, Mr. Charles Dickens had ever cared liberally. . The story is evidently an unpleasant one; but there is nothing in it necessarily to the discredit either of Mr. Charles Dickens, or of the unfortunate woman who has now put an end to her own life in Chicago.

THURSDAY MORNING, DECEMBER 31, 1898.

The City Tax Bill.

The Tax bill presented in City Council on Tuesday night, and to be acted on at the next meeting of that body, will, naturally, be carefully studied by every class of taxpayers. Some important changes have been made in the bill, and these will be best seen by comparing it with the Tax bill of 1868.

The tax on real estate is raised from two dollars to two and a half dollars, payable in March, June and November.

The tax on gross sales of goods, wares and merchandise, the tax on sales at auc tion, the tax on the gross receipts of all tavern keepers and liquor dealers, and the tax on the gross receipts of printing offices, newspapers and publishing houses, is reon the hundred dollars.

The tax on the gross receipts of telegraph companies is raised from one dollar to three dollars upon each one hundred dollars.

The tax on the street railway is raised from two dollars to three dollars, and a new tax of five dollars per month is imposed upon each horse railroad car.

The tax on express companies stands at three dollars on each one hundred dollars of gross receipts.

A new tax of twenty-five cents on every hundred dollars is imposed upon all sales of cotton; also, a new tax of fifty cents on every hundred dollars of all freight and passenger lists of all steamers and sailing vessels.

The tax on the receipts of cotton presses is raised from two dollars to three dollars. The tax on the gross receipts of hotels, and public eating and boarding houses, on the receipts of livery stable keepers, and on the sale of horses and mules, is reduced from one dollar to fifty cents on every hundred dollars. The following taxes stand unchanged: Coaches and four wheel carriages, three dollars per month; or if drawn by one horse or Greece. The Turkish Government express a mule, two dollars. Two wheel carriages, one dollar and fifty cents. On gross incomes from the pursuit of any faculty, profession or employment, three dollars on every hundred. On the value of all investments and securities, fifty cents on the hundred dollars. On dogs, two dollars. Gross receipts of commercial agencies, three dollars. On all commissions of factors and others, three dollars, and the same on receipts of insurance companies and gas companies. On each horse or mule, one dollar per month. On all retail dealers, hucksters of Europe, 300,000 in the United States, and and barber shops, two and a half dollars per month. On all goods sold by persons not residents, three dollars on every hundred. On sales of stocks, bonds and other securities, "at auction or at private sale," > twenty-five cents. The capitation tax of two dollars of 1868 is omitted, as, under the State Constitution, no such tax may be imposed except for edu> cational purposes. The provisions for collecting taxes and enforcing their payment, and to provide for a new assessment, are the same as in the > bill of 1868. The foregoing comparisons will give the public an idea of what the Committee on Ways and Means propose. There is no discussed, and it is probable that some of changed in amount; but they had a hard duty before them, and have labored faithfully to do what was best for all classes of suming the payment of interest on the city debt in April next; and this being admitted, it became impossible to avoid some change in the ratio of taxation: We are not prepared to say that the bill, as introduced by the committee, cannot be amended with advantage, but we are satisfied that the comof the city and to make taxation as light as is consistent with the payment of the interest on our debt, and the administration of

Our Penitentiary System.

Before the war we had no State peniten--Messrs. Lathrop, 'Ludington & Co., one of tiary. Culprits were punished by death, quired; but there was no State institution in which they might be confined with safety for a term of years, or for life, while their labor was made to contribute to their supmainly due to his care and supervision that the State penitentiary near Columbia has made so rapi and substantial a progress.

The report made by Major Lee, the Su-

ary last, showed that two hundred and eighty convicts had been sent there up to that time, and that one hundred and four cells had been built, The result of the operations of the penitentiary, from its commencement, showed that the convicts had not only sustained themselves by their labor, but-to use the words of Governor Orr-"had placed the State in possession of a building and material nearly equal "in value to the entire expenditure required both for the construction of the penitentiary and the maintenance of the 'convicts." These facts attracted much public attention, and caused the next report of the Superintendent to be looked for with great interest.

The Superintendent of the Penitentiary has now made his report for the six months ending October 31, 1868. This shows that the prison building contains one hundred and fifty cells for use, which will accommodate three hundred convicts, and may, in case of necessity, be made to accommodate four hundred and fifty convicts. The Superintendent, however, is opposed to having more than three hundred convicts in the building at one time, until the stone wall is built at least twelve feet high-the full height when completed being twenty feet. In the quarry on the premises, and in the one to be opened in the bed of the river, two hundred convicts can be worked.

The industrial departments of the penitentiary have been, for want of funds, carried on upon a limited scale; but during the year there was manufactured by convict labor, within the prison, all the cloth, clothing and shoes that were required, while the garden supplied, at all times, an ample quantity of vegetables. Tae Superintendent advises that a tannery and shoemaking shop be established, and says that by convict labor he can make shoes at $1 00 which are worth $1 60 in New York. They can, therefore, be sold in our own market at less than the cost of the same articles in the North.

The Superintendent estimates that three hundred will be the average number of inmates of the penitentiary during the coming twelve months, and says two hundred and twenty five of these should be employed in building the wall and prison. Of the remainder, there would be forty for the kitchen, laundry, garden, loom, tailor shop and police duties; and thirty-five who could be employed in tanning and making

In reference to the cost of the buildings. the Superintendent says that the present value of the works and material, with the building itself, is $126,918, and that the total amount expended is $129,859. "It "will be seen"-says Major Lec-"that the total amount expended exceeds the value of work, &c., by the sum of $2941 31. Now, when it is considered ninety-sixthousand and eighty-five convict days "have been passed in the prison-that is, an average of ninely-six thousand and eighty-five convicts for one day have been ignarded, full olothed, received the necessary medical attention, and other things 'necessary to their detention here; that, fifteen thousand six hundred and thirtyone days of guard duty has been performed, making an average of a little "more than six convicts to each guard; that, in the jails of the State forty cents per "day is paid for the dieting alone of all prisoners confined; the great personal benefit accruing to the prisoner, by re-"quiring him to exercise himself; the learning of many valuable trades, and the un doubted pecuniary benefit the State has and will derive from their labor, the wis-"dom displayed in establishing this insti-"tution must be apparent to all."

The strictest comomy has been practiced in the management of the institution, and the average daily cost of maintaining a convict has been at the rate of 27 4-10 cents per day, which sum includes guarding, dieting, clothing, medical attention and medi-

The Superintendent recommends that the guard of the penitentiary be a regular military organization; that there be an architect as well as a Superintendent, and says that if cash payments could be made in every instance, the work might be carried on more comomically.

We need no other information than that which is contained in the report before us, to easisfy'us that the construction of the penitentiary was a wise and prudent measure. Already the State is receiving full value for the money she expends; and when the building is completed, there is a prospeet that the penitentiary will pay all its expenses out of the profit derived from the articles which it manufactures. There is no hope that crime will decrease. The cupacity of the State ponitentiary is likely to be taxed to the utmost, and it is a fortunate thing for the State' that the building has been begun upon a plan which, if oarried out, will prevent the criminal from living at the expense of the people whom he has outraged. Gressly bad management alone can now make the penitentiary a burden upon the State, and we are satisfied that the General Assembly will see the necessity of going on with the work substantially as it has been begun, and of keeping our State penitentiary in an efficient and self sustaining candition.

Schiedam Schnapps.

OFFICE OF UDOLPHO WOLFE, Sole Importer of the Schiedam Aromatic Schnapps
No. 22 Benver-street.
New York, Nov.mber 3, 1868.

To the People of the Southern States: WHEN THE PURE MEDICINAL RESTORATIVE now so widely known as WOLFE'S SCHIEDAM SCHNAPPS, was in roduced into the world under the endorsement of four thousand leading member of the medical protession some twenty years ago, its proprietor was well aware that it could not wholly escape the penulty attached to all new and usefu preparations. He, therefore, endeavored to invest it with strongert possible safeguard against counter-feiters, and to render all attempts to pirate it difficult and dangerous. It was submitted to distinguished chemists for analysis, and pronounced by them the purest spirit ever manufactured. Its purity and properties having been thus a-certained, samples of the article were forwarded to ten thousand physicians, including all the leading practitioners in the United States, for purposes of experiment. A circular, requesting a trial of the preparation and report of the result, accompanied each specimen. Four thousand of the most eminent medical men in the Upion promptly responded. Their opinions of the article were unanimously favorable. Such a preparation, they said, had long been wanted by the profession, as no reliance could be placed on the ordinary liquors of commerce, all of which were more or less adulterated, and therefore unfit for medical purposes. The peculiar ex ellence and strength of the oi of juniper, which formed one of the principal ingredients of the Schrapps, together

ment, give it, in the estimation of the frenity, a marked superiority over every other diffusive stimu-

with an unalloyed character of the ab

lant as a diure ic, tonic and restorative. These satisfactory credentials from professional men of the highest rank were published in a condensed form, and enclosed with each bottle of the Schnapps, as one, of the guarantees of its genuine nees. Other precations against fraud were also adopted; a patent was obtained for the article, the label was copyrighted, a fac simile of the proprietor's autograph signature was attuched to each label and | cles. cover, his name and that of the preparation were sm-Lossed on the bottles, and the corks were scaled with his private seal. No article had ever been sold in this country under the name of Schnapps prior to the introduction of Wolfe's Schiedam Aromati Schnapps, in 1851; and the label was deposited, as his trade mark, in the United States District Court for the Southern District of New York during that

It might be supposed by persons una quainted with the during character of the pirates who prey upon the reputation of honorable merchants by wending deleterious trash under their name, that the protections so carefully thrown around these Schnapps would have precluded the infroductions and sale of counterfelts. They seem, however, only to have stimulated the repacity of impostors. The trade mark of the proprietor has been stolen; the inderse-ment which his Schiedam Aromatic Schnapps alone received from the medical profession has been claimed by mendacious humbugs; his labels and bottles have been imitated, his advertisements para phrased, his circulars copied, and worse than all, dishonorable retailers, after disposing of the gennin ommon gin, the most deleterious of all liquors, and thus made his name and brind a cover for poison.

The public, the medical profession and the sick, for whom the Schledam trematic Schnapps is prescribed as a remedy, are equally intereste with the proprietor in the detection and suppression of these netarious practices. The genu ne article, manutacured at the establishment of the undersigned in Schiedant, Holland, is distilled from a barley of the finest quality, and flavored with an essential extract of the berry of the Italian julipat, of unequalled purity. By a process unknown in the preparation of any other liquor, it is treed from every a and corrosive element.

Complaints have been re-cived from the leading physicians and families in the Southern States of the sale of cheap muitations of the Schiedam Arcmalic Schnipps in those markets; and travellers who are in the habit of using it as an antidote to the baneful influence of unwholesome river water, tes tify that cheap gin, put up in Schiedam bottles, trequently pained off upon the unwary. The gents of the undersigned have been requested to institute inquiries on the subject, and to forward to him the names of each parties as they may ascertain to be engoged in the aircrious system of deception. In conclusion, the undersigned would say the he has produced, from under the hands of the most distinguished men of stien c in America, proofs un answerable of the nurity and medicinal excel lence of the Schiedam Aromatic Schua; ps ; that he has expended many thousand dollars in surrounding it with guarantees and safe, uards, which he designed should project the public and himsel against fraudulent imitations; that he has shown it to be the only lionor in the world that can be use formly depended upon as unadalterated; that he has challenged investigation, analysis, comparison and experiment in all its form : and from every orderl the preparation whi h bears his name, scal and trade mark, has come off triumphant. He, therefore, feels it a duty he owes to his tellow-citiz us generally, to the medical protession and the sick, to denorince and expose the charlatins who countertelt these evidencies of identity, and he calls upon the press and the public to aid him in his offers to remedy to great

The following letters and certificates from the leading physicians and che-met of this city will prove to the render that all goods sold or the undersigned are all that they are repre ented to be. UDOLPHO WOLFE.
